TEST

In our bustling world, the notion of being a good citizen is more than just a set of rules to follow; it's a guiding principle that shapes our interactions and contributes to the fabric of our society.

Being a good citizen involves several important things. First, it's about following the rules and laws of your community, like stopping at red lights and not littering. But being a good citizen goes beyond just obeying rules. It means being kind and helpful to others. This could be as simple as holding the door open for someone or helping your neighbor carry groceries. Good citizens also care about making their community a better place. They might volunteer at a local charity, join a cleanup crew to pick up trash in the neighborhood, or plant trees to help the environment. Being a good citizen also means treating everyone fairly and with respect, no matter whom they are or where they come from.

By doing these things, good citizens help create a happier, safer, and more welcoming community for everyone to live in.

PART ONE:

Reading comprehension:

1- Choose the right answer:

The text is about: a- charity   b- citizenship   c- being a good citizen

2- Answer by "true", "false" or "not mentioned":

 a- Being a good citizen means only following the community rules.

 b- Volunteer makes you a good citizen.

c- The author is a good citizen.

3- Answer the following question:

a- What does being a good citizen involve, according to the text?

b- Can you provide examples of following rules and laws mentioned in the text?

4- Match each word with its definition

Charity	a home for children whose parents are dead or unable to care of them
Donate	give money or goods for a good cause
Orphanage	an organization set up to provide help and raise money for those in need

Mastery of language:

1- Supply punctuation and capital letters where necessary.

in our daily lives being a good citizen means more than just following rules. it's about being helpful caring for others and making our communities better.

2- Put the verbs between brackets to the right form

- If you ……………. (to follow) the rules and laws of your community, you …………
(to contribute) to a safer and more orderly society.
- If individuals ………….. (to treat) everyone fairly and with respect, they ………….
(to help) foster equality and understanding within their community.
- ………………… (not to litter) if you ………… (to want) to be a good citizen.

3- Circle the silent letter in the words below:

What – doubt – column – should

PART TWO:

Written expression:

A good citizen is who takes his responsibility towards his environment. Write an argumentative text for your school magazine to give your opinion about how to be a good citizen. Use: First / additionally / furthermore

TEST

In our bustling world, the notion of being a good citizen is more than just a set of rules to follow; it's a guiding principle that shapes our interactions and contributes to the fabric of our society.

Being a good citizen involves several important things. First, it's about following the rules and laws of your community, like stopping at red lights and not littering. But being a good citizen goes beyond just obeying rules. It means being kind and helpful to others. This could be as simple as holding the door open for someone or helping your neighbor carry groceries. Good citizens also care about making their community a better place. They might volunteer at a local charity, join a cleanup crew to pick up trash in the neighborhood, or plant trees to help the environment. Being a good citizen also means treating everyone fairly and with respect, no matter whom they are or where they come from.

By doing these things, good citizens help create a happier, safer, and more welcoming community for everyone to live in.

PART ONE:

Reading comprehension:

1- Choose the right answer:

The text is about: a- charity   b- citizenship   c- being a good citizen

2- Answer by "true", "false" or "not mentioned":

 a- Being a good citizen means only following the community rules. FALSE

 b- Volunteer makes you a good citizen. TRUE

c- The author is a good citizen. NOT MENTIONED

3- Answer the following questions:

a- What does being a good citizen involve, according to the text?

Being a good citizen involves following the rules and laws of your community; being kind and helpful to others; care about making your community a better place and treating everyone fairly and with respect.

b- Can you provide examples of following rules and laws mentioned in the text?

The examples are: stopping at red lights and not littering.

4- Match each word with its definition

Charity Donate Orphanage	a home for children whose parents are dead or unable to take care of them give money or goods for a good cause an organization set up to provide help and raise money for those in need

Mastery of language:

1- Supply punctuation and capital letters where necessary.

In our daily lives, being a good citizen means more than just following rules. It's about being helpful, caring for others and making our communities better.

2- Put the verbs between brackets to the right form

- If you follow the rules and laws of your community, you will contribute to a safer and more orderly society.
- If individuals treat everyone fairly and with respect, they will help foster equality and understanding within their community.
- Don't litter if you want to be a good citizen.

3- Circle the silent letter in the words below:

What – doubt – column – should

2023-2024